In this new edition, Nadis Design will be present at Hall 25 Stand B70 and will offer its visitors the major highlights of this year, including two designer collections: the Fe Collection by Francesc Rifé and the Valentina Collection by Inma Bermúdez. Additionally, they will introduce the new 120x120cm format of their successful

Pols Collection by F. Rifé, and the Tempo Collection, a new high-performance cotto.

Nadis presents its new 'Tribute' stand, designed by Francesc Rifé, inspired by the new building of the company recently inaugurated in the town of Burriana, Castellon. This building houses their permanent showroom, offices, and warehouse with continuous stock. The stand pays homage to Nacho López, the founder of the company, who has left the Nadis team a great legacy of ceramic world knowledge and an inspiring personal and creative trail.

Fe Collection, design by Francesc Rifé

Fe Collection, made of colored body porcelain material and created by designer and interior designer Francesc Rifé, is inspired by the textures of metals, one of the most versatile raw materials on the planet, and the passage of time on them. The beauty of the changing aspect inherent to metals, either due to climatic agents or the different treatments materials like steel, iron, or copper undergo, serves as inspiration for this collection.

Valentina Collection, design by Inma Bermúdez

The Valentina collection, conceived by Inma Bermúdez, marks her first collection crafted using colored porcelain body, and she aimed to fully unleash its creative and decorative potential.

Drawing inspiration from the porcelain manufacturing process itself and the tradition of Valencian ceramics, the designer presents a timeless collection comprising a line of essential pieces in four distinct tones. Additionally, she introduces a line that complements the former, adding character to the collection. This line consists of small-format pieces decorated with simple geometric shapes in various Mediterranean-inspired colors.

Tempo Collection, design by Nadis Team

Tempo is created with the intention of bringing us closer to the most natural materials we find in our immediate environment. Inspired by fired clay, this high-performance porcelain collection is designed for the most demanding spaces.

Pols Collection, design by Francesc Rifé

The successful Pols collection, designed by Francesc Rifé and inspired by the textures of Mediterranean beaches, is presented this time in a new 120x120cm format. A fresh perspective on the classic terrazzo that offers a new aesthetic concept and ample possibilities for decoration, thanks to its neutral tones with small seashell inlays and meticulous graphics.
